

Resilient Product Structures

Accredited for health, safety and welfare this course is equal to 0.1 IDCEC CEU and 1 AIA LU. This course covers the different types of resilient products and how they are manufactured. We will also cover the key product differences from texture and visual aesthetics to the basic composition of resilient flooring layers, their benefits and purpose. This course will allow you to:

- Understand resilient flooring product types
- Learn about testing methods and construction
- Learn how different types of resilient flooring is manufactured
- Understand the benefits and recommended applications for different resilient flooring types

